The Eastern Half of Stuyvesant Park Ready for the Public.

Stuyvesant Park, or at least one-half of it, will be opened to the public this evening.
It has been closed ever since last November because the Park Commissioners thought it an unnecessary expense to light and police it when it was not used by the people.

Many anxious inquiries were heard, and it was even rumored that the Park Commissioners were going to undo all the good work accomplished by THE EVENING WORLD last year and close it up altogether at night on account of the expense.

They have had no intention of doing this, however, as inquiries at the Park Department made by THE EVENING WORLD reporter show.

Instructions were sent to the headquarters of the Park Police several weeks ago, "directing that, if possible, the small parties in the evening should be regularly opened in the evening, beginning April 15."

They will at first be opened until 10 o'clock in the evening, and then when the long evenings come in June they will be kept open for the rest of the summer season until midnight.

At present we can only open the eastern half of Stuyvesant Park, which, as you know, is divided by Second Avenue, because there is no means of lighting the other part.
Ever since the electric wires were cut last winter we have not been able to make connections with the United States Company, which lighted the West Park, because all their lines on Third and Fourth Avenues were taken down, and the city will not let them put up any new ones.

The East Park was lighted by the East River Company, whose connections from the east side were not disturbed.

How long will it be before the West Park can be lighted?

That it is impossible to say, for the Commission has control of that matter, I think, however, that it will be arranged very soon, for the lighting contract must be made before the 1st of next month.

Supp. McCormack, of the Bureau of Land and Gas, said that contracts for electric lighting expire May 1, after that it is impossible to say what will be done.

In making bids for a new contract," said he, "the companies made no competition and prices have advanced from 25 and 35 cents a lamp to 50 up to 100 cents.

"We got an appropriation of $200,000 for lighting, and if we accept the company's contracts at the new prices there will be a deficiency of $30,000 at the end of the year."

How it will be settled I cannot say, but perhaps it may be necessary to close all the parks in the evening until the matter is cleared up.

DELEGATE REID DEBARRED.

He Organized the Sailors' Union, but Now He Is Not in It.

The second day's session of the Convention of the Amalgamated Sailors and Firemen's Union began this morning in the Chamber of the Board of Aldermen.
Hugh McGregor, who presided, announced that he had a letter written by George Watson Reid, the delegate who was dismissed from the whole of yesterday's session, and that he had read it.
Mr. McGregor was about to read the letter, but was interrupted by the speaker, who said that the committee had decided to discontinue the session until the committee had reported on the case of Reid.

An animated discussion ensued, and finally Reid was called in to state his case. The session continued for an hour when the delegates resumed their seats in the Chamber, J. Arthur Van Hise, of Philadelphia, and J. P. Sullivan, were appointed a committee to draw up a constitution for the union, and the session closed in harmony, the committee to confer with the various local unions on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and the Lake Region's Union.
The committee that considered the case of Reid made a report recommending that the North River branch be requested to withdraw him as a delegate and send another representative.

Reid retired when this announcement was made, without saying a word. To a reporter, however, he said:

"Last October I began to organize the Atlantic Union, after being elected the supporter of the Board of Aldermen, and the Liverpool Seamen's Protective Association. I have organized the most important ports on the Atlantic coast. But today a few men, who only joined our union recently, and then until they got satisfied with the union, have become prejudiced against me.

"A clique has been formed and petty charges are being made. The one side is hearted by these men, but they will not listen to the Union at any expense. I worked hard and long to make it what it is. I have suffered greatly while advocating the cause, but the hard work is all over and the individuals who rail against the exploitation of the worker by the capitalist, turn around and exploit the worker.

"I have friends in the Convention but they are sailors and firemen and are unable to take the floor in my behalf, while I am not allowed to speak for myself. And yet they call it a democratic institution.

"If for the Union at any expense, I worked hard and long to make it what it
is. I have suffered greatly while advocating the cause, but the hard work is all over and the
around and exploit the worker.

"After Delegate Reid's withdrawal, the Convention resumed business and closed today smoking during the rest of the session."

IN A FIX ABOUT MURRAY.

The Judge Wanted by the Grand Jury and the Counties Committee.

Police Justice Henry Murray must tell the Grand Jury what he knows about bribery and other felonies practiced by his fellow-leaders of the County Democracy.

The white-matched Judge declared that $5,000 had been paid for a clerkship of one of the Judicial District Courts, and was the Grand Jury has subpoenaed him to testify regarding it.

This leaves Assistant District-Attorney John W. Goff in a quandary as to his course as Chairman of the Committee of the County Democracy organization, which will begin its investigation into Judge Murray's charges at Cooper Union Thursday night.

Besides Mr. Goff, Edward T. Brown, and two other Assistant District-Attorneys are members of this investigating committee.

The fact that Judge Murray has been called to testify before the Grand Jury will afford him a splendid opportunity to refute the charges against him, and it is assured that he will be subpoenaed for the purpose of stopping the investigation.
